

NAME: Brad Pitt
Date of birth: December 18, 1963

FENG SHUI Profiling: Water, Metal, Fire 1 . 6 . 9

Water, metal, fire is a fairly balanced cycle: The metal charges the water, but it is not very constructive as the water put out the fire which melt the metal. To harmonize the life, introduce the earth element with brow and yellow colors, and square forms.

Birth Energy: Moon (water)
Control Energy: Sky (metal)
Destination Energy: Sun (fire)

The Energy of the Moon: General Profile

BEWARE OF SLEEPING WATERS...

When looking at the Bagua, the moon energy (1) is located at the bottom, to the north (in Feng Shui compass, north is at the bottom while south is at the top). If you overlap the Bagua and the Tao, you see that this energy is at the beginning of all things. It is the water energy, the water of the root, both the symbol of life and of danger.

This birth energy produces secretive and solitary beings, but with wide social circle and network. Diplomats with even mood, they know how to manage their relations with others. Add to it a great intuition and a great capacity to balance flattery and encouragements, and you understand why their entourage comes to these calm natives when in need of rest and appeasement.

But is this their real nature? Like the water, in perpetual movement, they can bend without braking... but do not trust their apparent gentleness: They do not lose their cool easily, but if their anger demonstrations are rare, they are furies! And generally provoked by insignificant details following a series of little frustrations.

Professionally, they are ambitious and highly persevering and patients. They are in perpetual introspection, analyzing constantly their problems to solve them.

Highly independent, they prefer generally to work alone and succeed in their own enterprise than to perpetuate someone else's work. Organized to the core, talented and intelligent, they often take control of operations. But be careful with their self-confidence: if they lose control of their taste for independence, they will isolate themselves, becoming prisoners of the high opinion they have of their own judgment.

Very emotional, they have a hard time expressing their feelings, and need always to keep a safe distance, and if they need to be alone, they won't even answer the door or the phone.

Best emotional relations: With natives of the sky, mist and to a certain extent with earth-pivot

Best professional relations: With natives of thunder, wind, sky and mist.

Modus Operande: Individual profile

It is the energy of Leopold Stokowski, William Holden, Roy Orbison, Ella Fitzgerald, Clark Gable, Dennis Quaid and Federico Fellini...

This native progress in life following his intuition. His life is the reflection of his instinctive reactions. In all situations, he will show perfect objectivity, appearing cold and without emotions. However, it's only the expression of his great honesty.

When he can put objectivity ahead of instinct, his life changes 180 degrees. He won't explain to you his feelings in details as he has a hard time opening-up and communicating.

Independent at an early age, he has the spirit of a leader, and is so demanding that he exhaust his collaborators. Compromising is not an option, and when he feels in his core that he is right, he focuses and go ahead without listening to anybody.

His real professional weakness is not knowing how to express what he expect from others, creating a lack of clarity and misunderstandings.

Our native needs to be the center of interest at all time, or it increases his difficulties to communicate.

2012 to 2013: What's behind

2012:When the energy of the Moon meets the energy of the Sun

Influenced by the energy of the Sun, it was a year where everybody recognized our native's merits. It was also a time where nothing could be hidden. He was getting more exhausted than usual.

2013:When the energy of the Moon meets the energy of the its own energy

Back in his own energy, it was a time for patience where he formulated his projects, paving the way for the future without getting into action. He knew that during this period apparently immobile, time was working on his behalf.

2014, 2015 and 2016: What's ahead

2014:When the energy of the Moon meets the energy of the Valley

Enough isolation! Our native gets out of his cocoon. Relationships are on the agenda with many changes: Associations, separations, etc... This native will get his life in order, and put the past behind.

2015:When the energy of the Moon meets the energy of the Thunder

New opportunities, new experiences, new beginnings: It is an ideal year to initiate new projects and take some risks. Everything moves, and it is not so convenient to him as it comes shacking his universe. Fortunately, he won't fall in the trap of temerity and imprudence.

2016:When the energy of the Moon meets the energy of the Wind

During that year, our native can feel the abundant energy of the wind blowing on his face. Solicited from all directions, financially supported, this period of movement and expansion will be very stressful and exhausting, with a sense of insecurity. He will need to be re-assured and to plan his moves calmly.
